

For the development of a new department we are looking for a

Head of Food Contact Material

We are a Berlin-based, innovative, science- and solution-oriented company that is dedicated to food quality and safety, lives a culture of communication and promotes the individual potential of our employees.

As accredited independent laboratory, we have been committed to food safety for 40 years. and quality and have been supporting the food industry along the entire value chain. As a service provider and partner, we support the food industry in quality management issues along the entire value chain. Our professional expertise ranges from the performance of chemical and microbiological testing procedures to the analysis of non-standard enquiries by our FoodScience Centre and the continuous development of new methods by our own research and development department. In addition, the Institute offers consistently competent and recognised assessment and evaluation of food and food contact materials in accordance with current legal norms as well as national and international scientific standards.

Our corporate culture is of cohesion, Appreciation and dynamics of a long-established medium-sized company characterised - we always invest in the Further training our employees and place emphasis on sustainability and social responsibility. As part of the international Mérieux NutriSciences Group, we benefit from the diversity and expertise of our parent company. At the same time, we retain the advantages of flat hierarchies and fast decision-making processes at a local level.

At the same time, we retain the advantages of flat hierarchies and fast decision-making processes at the local level.

Your profile:

- At least 3-5 years of professional experience
- Scientific-technical oriented study programme
- Leadership experience (e.g. as a team leader)
- Strong customer orientation
- Very good Knowledge in the testing and legal assessment of consumer goods
- Special interest and experience in the field of assessment and analytics of Food packaging, especially paper / plastic packaging
- Enthusiasm, team spirit, flexibility and social competence
- Reliability, willingness and ability to work independently
- good command of English

Your main areas of work are:

- Establishment of the "Food Contact Materials" Department
- Definition and development of the service portfolio
- Strategic customer development and consulting
- Preparation of offers and test plans according to legal and customer-specific requirements
- Legal evaluation of test results / specification testing
- Cooperation / presentation of the Institute in working groups and committees
- Planning and monitoring of projects

Our benefits:

- We invest in our employees - TRAINING is a priority for us and is more secure than ever. Guarantor for advancement opportunities and promotion in our company
- We offer flexible and family-friendly working hours through flexitime and home office.
- Our large roof terrace with a view over Berlin regularly invites you to linger together
- We promote the fitness of our employees through financial support
- We live tolerance and inclusivity as important principles of our corporate culture

Please send your application documents by e-mail to:

Institut Kirchhoff Berlin GmbH Merieux NutriSciences- Oudenarderstraße 16 / Carrée Seestraße - 13347 Berlin

Tel.: 030 457 98 93-0 - Fax: 030 457 98 93-555

Mail: HR.de@mxns.com - Web: www.institut-kirchhoff.de

Contact person: Ms Ivonne Franck / Ms Lana Block